

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Karl Brandt is Director of the Food Research Institute, Stanford University.

Norman R. Phillips is a writer living in Chicago.

William Henry Chamberlin, author of The Evolution of a Conservative, is editorial contributor to the Wall Street Journal.

Arthur Kemp, professor of economics, is Director of the The Institute on Freedom and Competitive Enterprise of Claremont Men's College.

Leopold Kohr is professor of social sciences at the University of Puerto Rico.

Murray N. Rothbard is the author of Man, Economy and State and The Great Depression.

Lindley Fraser, who died in March of this year shortly after he had completed the article which appears in this issue, was Head of the British Broadcasting Company's German service.

Samuel M. Thompson is professor of philosophy at Monmouth College.

Vladimir Andreyev, a former lieutenant-colonel in the Soviet army, now lives in Germany; his article was translated from Russian by Arthur Salemme.

The Book reviews are contributed by: William H. Peterson, professor of economics at New York University; Frank S. Meyer, author of In Defense of Freedom—a Conservative Credo; Thomas S. Gephardt, of the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer; George Morgenstern, of the Chicago Tribune; Andrew Gyorgy, professor of government at Boston University; Philip E. Mosely, of the Council on Foreign Relations.

FOUNDATION FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS SERIES

- No. 5 | Strategic Intelligence
by William Montgomery McGovern
Northwestern University
An analysis of the actions of nations as they relate to the national economies, the ideology, and the cultural characteristics of their peoples. $4.00
- No. 6 | The German Opposition to Hitler
by Hans Rothfels
University of Tuebingen
An appraisal of the extent of the German resistance, its composition, its aim, and the nature of what it tried to do. $4.00
- No. 7 | Berlin and the Future of Eastern Europe
edited by David S. Collier Foundation for Foreign Affairs and Kurt Glaser
Southern Illinois University
A definitive examination of the problem by twelve prominent scholars of international affairs from Europe and the United States. $6.00 published by Henry Regnery Company in cooperation with FOUNDATION FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS, INC.

154 East Superior Street Chicago 11, Illinois

INSTITUTE FOR PHILOSOPHICAL AND HISTORICAL STUDIES, INC.

Directors:

David S. Collier

Frank F. Kolbe

Eugene Davidson

Ellerton A. Lodge

Paul T. Kessler, Jr.

Dean Terrill

THE INSTITUTE FOR PHILOSOPHICAL AND HISTORICAL STUDIES, INC., 154 East Superior St., Chicago 11, Illinois, is a non-profit corporation organized, among other purposes, to encourage and disseminate studies that are calculated to add to the understanding of philosophy, history, and related fields and their application to human endeavor.

THE INSTITUTE SERIES of scholarly treatises, entitled "Philosophical and Historical Studies", includes:

Vol. 1. A Humane Economy, by Dr. Wilhelm Roepke of the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva.

Vol. 2. A Theory of Public Opinion, by Professor Francis Graham Wilson, of the University of Illinois.

3 good books for serious reading . . .

A HUMANE ECONOMY

the Social Framework of the Free Market

by Wilhelm Röpke

A new book by one of the leading free-market economists of the world. Röpke brings the logic of economic theory to bear on such problems as inflation, the welfare state, planning, and the undeveloped countries.

$5.00

“. . . this is an able, hard-hitting and well written account of the century-old conflict between mass society and humanist culture . . . a challenging manifesto of economic liberalism based on the hard currency of individual freedom.”

Maurice Feldman
Saturday Review

IN DEFENSE OF FREEDOM

a Conservative Credo

by Frank S. Meyer

Mr. Meyer demonstrates that the proper end of political thought and action is the establishment and preservation of freedom.

$3.95

“In an essay brilliant with destructive analysis . . . Frank Meyer re-opens the great conversation which humanity will always be ready to engage in, we hope, about the nature and scope of freedom. He writes as a man who has gone over the ground in conscience; and what he has found is that the individual, the irreducible person, is the primary reality and the sole repository of virtue.”

Richard M. Weaver

A THEORY of PUBLIC OPINION

by Francis G. Wilson

Mr. Wilson, professor of political science at the University of Illinois, presents an historical and philosophical evaluation of a concept whose overwhelming force is today peculiarly underestimated. His insights offer invaluable understanding at a time when public opinion, the very force which enables the ruled to restrain the rulers, has itself become subject to manipulation by those who would impose their will upon fellow men.

$7.00

at all bookstores

Henry REGNERY Company
CHICAGO 4, ILLINOIS